Washingron city, D. C., Jan. 1. 1874.

Sin: It gives me pleasure to be able to inform you that my office. No. 819 Seventh street northwest, has been enlarged and refitted with every convenience for the traffsaction of my brainess, which I will be enabled to attend to in a manner that will exceed my previous-florits.

As Real Estate Broker I sell large amounts of property at private sale, and collect numerous rents; thus from the extent of my business in this line unusual facilities are offered my olients, to all of whom I can cheerfully refer as to my promptness and their satisfaction as to the manner in which their business has been conducted.

As Auctioner of Real Estate I have great facilities, from the fact that the numerous inquiries made of me. as real estate broker, enable, me to give information and direct the attention of parties desiring to make purchases to those sales.

As auctioners of which we have a suctioneer and real estate securities at not exceeding half the value of the property, and my duties as auctioneer and real estate broker give me superior opportunities of judging the Une value of such property, as the sales and renting bring it continually under my observation. By the law of Congress the interest allowed on the above class of securities in the city of Washington is limited to ten per centum, (10 per cent...) which I collect quarterly or semi-atmually, and forward free of charge, the fee to me being patity the party borrowing the money. There cannot he amore advantageous manner of investment than this, when the property is properly selected, which I have such superior opportunity of doing. My hope and expectation is that, as heretofore. I can give perfect satisfaction, and ask for a continuade of your faxors.

A CASE OF COURT ETIQUETTE. The London Gazetts, the official paper of the court and Government, contained on Saturday the following extraordinary announcement: "Notice is hereby given that the presentation of Mrs. Johnson at her Majesty's drawing-room of Thursday, the 20th of February last, took place the Lord Chamberlain's office. All fashionable London is inquiring who "Mrs. Johnson" is, and if, as one must conclude from this public impaling of her name, she is a person of objectionable charactor, how she managed to get to the Queen's drawing-room. It is well known that a reception by the Queen implies a free course through the best Landon society. Ordinarily it requires the most careful introduction and vouchers to reach that have of plus which the three of the course that have of plus nue eighty feet and it is inches from the place of beginning, and thenos with said avenue to the place of beginning, together with all the improvements thereon.

Terms to sale: One fourth in cash, of which gion must be paid at the sale, the deferred payments to be for being a vigillant Carebus at the palace door, it has been for some time. that haven of blue which is the dream of every reputation which the Lord Chamberlain has got for being a vigilant Cerebus at the palace door, it has been for some time whispered that ladies of a "fast" description have been making their appearance at court, and through having friends at court.

It has been hinted that some of these exceptional recruits come from France, Germany and America. These whispers and hints will be sharply pointed by the paragraph in the Gozette above quoted, and there will be considerable dismay. If there is one superstition in these sceptical times which has remained hitherto unshaken it is the Briton's faith in the moral perfection of Vistoria's Court; if it shall now turn out that a reception there is no guarantee of character and spoticesses, the sensation will be indescribable. And yet it may be, after all, that poor like. Johnson was only rather too plebelan, or that she was not adequately dressed—Queen Vistoria's chief weakness being her vehement stickling for court eliquette. The fashion of evaning dress has so changed that ledies on. victoria's contracted being her vehiclent stickling for court etiquette. The fashion of evening dress has so changed that ladies can no longer appear at other parties in the dresses which, by a rigorous exaction that the Queen, though often appealed to, refuses to relax, they have worn at court.

WHY HE WAS RECOMMENDED. WHY HE WAS RECOMMENDED.

Congression Small, of New Hampshire, has written a letter to one of his constituents, who complained of him for recommending a certain person for appointment as a postmaster in his district. Mr. Small says: "Who is this Captain Chapman? Let me tell you what you already know, that when President Lincoln sounded hisfirst bugie-call 'to arms' Chapman, a poor boy of sixteen, was the first to respond from your town. He spent his last half dollar to have extra heeltape put on his boots, to make him tall enough to pass, and he traveled all the way on foot to the pass, and he traveled all the way on foot to the recruiting station to enlist. He served out the first anlistment for nine months, and then re-enlisted as a private, serving four years in all, with distinction to himself and honor to his town. Being several times promoted for his gallant conduct, he came out of the service a captain, with an honorable discharge. During the service he received a crushing wound in the shoulder, of which he was for a long time laid up, and from which he has never fully recovered, and never will. For has never fully recovered, and never will. For the last year and a half Captain Chapman has been postal clerk on the Great Falls and Conway railroad. Such is the history of the new postmasar-a thoroughly straightforward, honest man, against whom you dared not to say one word."

THE MISSING LINK. On the Island of Borneo says the Siam Weekly advertiser, has been found a certain race of wild creatures, of which kindred varieties have been discovered in the Phillipine Islands, in Terre del Fuego, and in South America. They walk unusually almost erect, on two legs, and in that attitude measure about four feet in height. They construct no habitations, form no families, scarcely associate together, sleep in caves and trees, feed on snakes and vermin, on ants' eggs and on each other. They cannot be tamed or forced to any labor, and are hunted and shot among the trees like the great gorilla, of which they are a stunted copy. When captured alles, one finds with sur-prise that their uncouth jabbering sounds are like articulate language. They turn up a human face to gare at their captors, and the females show instincts of modesty: in fine, these wretched beings are men and women

A CLERGYMAN CONQUERS A BURGLAR A recent achievement of Rev. D. F. McLeod, an Episcopalian clergyman, residing at Clark Hill, near Niagara Falls, in Canada, is thus described by the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser: "On Wednesday night last Mr. McLeod was awakened from sleep by the barking of his dog. Thinking there might possibly be something wrong about the premises, he proceeded to an Federal Buildings, corner Seventh and F sts. N.W. adjoining room and there found a large-sized weight and strength, a pretty lively time enproperly directed. Succeeding, after a violent struggle, in throwing the burglar to the floor, he held him there until the arrival of a male servant, who was sent to procure a rope. The servant was ordered to tie the man, but, through fear and trembling, his fingers were unable to perform the office. Seeing that he nad only himself to rely upon, the parson placed his knee upon the breast of his victim, and finally succeeded, without aid, in securely binding his limbs, after which he lashed him to a heavy piece of furniture, and then mounted guard over him till morning. In the course of the struggle Mr. McLeod sustained quite a severe injury to one of his hands, a bone having been fractured. The burglar was lodged in RECENT evidence about the last allied war against China shows that at the taking of the ommer palace one building was full of silks, the produce of a tax which requires every manufacturer to send in the first piece he used instead of ropes, which were wanting to picket the French horses. Then there was a palace full of drawings, a series of four thouand, illustrating the whole history of China. The soldiers, ignorant of their value, trod them under foot and used them for kindling fires. Scarcely two hundred were saved. Then there was the carriage palace, in which word found the magnificent coaches which were pre-sented to the Emperor of China by the Eng-lish embassy in 1818. The iron work was loose, and the leather had become as hard and brittle as wood. One palace was full of furs.
